

Joe Moreno, FlexElement Texas

Rotating equipment issues (i.e., vibrations, lubrication and PM's)

Do you have responsibilities for rotating equipment? Has your machinery presented you with a challenging issue? Well let's get together and work through these issues to generate time and money saving solutions together. This session will be an open discussion covering all things rotating equipment related and you get to decide what the primary topics of discussion are. We will work to cover the topics that are most concerning to you as well as discuss new technologies and reliability-based solutions. Come prepared to discuss your issue or help others resolve theirs.